

Validity of residence permits for seasonal employment extended by three months

The Civil Registry and Migration Department would like to inform the public that the period of validity of residence permits for seasonal employment is extended by three months, due to the extraordinary measures that have been taken to tackle the pandemic.